Draw a Venn diagram. If you want to stick to the dozens of free books available, click on the one you like, and it will appear in a pop-up window. Once it does, you can start reading. FunBrainAt FunBrain, you'll find a selection of books for elementary and middle grades, including some of the popular books and series that kids love the most. Create a comic strip of the main events that happened in your book. Be sure to draw balloons to accompany each picture with dialog from the characters. The activities below will reinforce and enhance what your students are currently reading. Look for titles like Judy Moody, Diary of a Wimpy Kid, Smashie McPerter, Amelia, Stunk and more. Example: The curriculum Photo Courtesy: MoMo Productions/Getty Images Reading is important for kids of all ages, whether they're reading on their own or hearing stories from teachers, parents and the other adults in their lives. Book reports are a thing of the past, and it's time to be innovative and try some book activities that your students will enjoy. Include important dates and events that took place in the characters lives. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET When you visit this site, it may store or retrieve information on your browser, mostly in the form of cookies. So you would draw an illustration of Rosa Parks taking a stand on the bus. There is a column for flat shapes, and a column for solid shapes. Kindergarten to 2nd Grade Geometry Worksheets Worksheets for teaching coordinate grids, ordered pairs, and plotting points. Solid Shapes Geometry worksheets for solid (3D) shapes Similar and Congruent Shapes Printable on identifying similar and congruent shapes Symmetry Worksheets Several symmetry activities and printable worksheets It's won several awards, including an Emmy, and it's been endorsed by the American Library Association. Then write down five facts from your book and five things that are fiction. Include a few sketches of the main events and dates. It also has informative videos on topics like getting along with siblings or dealing with bullies. Create a small "most wanted" poster of the meanest character in your book. Remember to include what he/she looks like and why they are wanted. Students classify polygons (irregular, triangle, square, rectangle, rhombus, pentagon, parallelogram, hexagon, etc). The site even has a section on math. Oxford Owl Created by Oxford University Press. Oxford Owl offers a free site for parents and children to use at home, as well as a membership version for teachers and schools. Example: Old, nice, funny. Under their picture include a brief description of that person and what they are most known for. First, copy the sentence, then beneath that, write down your questions. In the middle, write down a few things they had in common. On the right side write down the name of the character that was the "villain" of the story. Beyond books, the Oxford Owl site offers a blog with advice for parents and kids on topics like summer reading and what to expect when school starts. Reading them is as easy as visiting one of these websites. If you are reading a biography, create an illustration of what your famous person is known for doing. To do this draw, a circle in the middle of your paper, and in the circle write the name of your book. If you are reading a biography, make a list of 5 things you learned that you did not know. For example, there are books that are Common Core-approved, Spanish language books, joke books, alphabet books and more. Divide your paper in half, on the left side write "facts," and on the right side write "fiction" (remember fiction means it is not true). Choose three sentences from your book and turn them into questions. If you are reading a poetry book, copy your favorite poem and draw an illustration to accompany it. If you are reading a biography, create a portrait of the famous person you are reading about. Photo Courtesy: Westend61/Getty Images The site is filled with some of the most popular kids' books, and rather than read them yourself, you can watch a video of a celebrity like Kevin Costner, Eva Longoria or Betty White read them to you. Under your illustration, write down three reasons someone should read your book. Draw two specific scenes from your story and underneath the illustrations, write a brief dialog exchange of what is happening in each scene. Pretend you are the author of the book and make up an alternative ending to the story. You can also sort their books by collection or series. Photo Courtesy: Klaus Vedfelt/Getty Images You can also browse by series or Oxford Reading Level. However, for a monthly fee or annual subscription, you can receive physical books in the mail and access educational printables. Draw a story map about the book you are reading. You can find out more and change our default settings with Cookie Settings. Photo Courtesy: Maskot/Getty Images You can even search for books that are from each continent. Example, Rosa Parks is known for not getting off the bus. Some may require a membership signup, but for most of them, you can go straight to the link and start reading. Wilbooks Wilbooks offers free digital books for kids ages pre-K through third grade and reading levels A through M. Each book has its own activity guide, and you can buy the books from the site if you'd like to own a physical copy. International Children's Digital Library The International Children's Digital Library has one of the biggest selections of kids' books online. Pretend you are the author of the book. Make a timeline of the important events that are happening in your book. They can also be repeated throughout the year. Write down the definition, and draw a picture of each word. Write a letter to the author of your book. Each title gives a suggested grade level range. Find 5 plural (more than one) nouns in your book. Write a brief dialog exchange between the characters. To be a little bit inclusive, you can ask your student to choose an activity from the list below that they think will go well with the book they are currently reading. Choose from more than 4,000 titles in approximately 60 languages. It's especially important for first graders because they're still learning language, and reading helps them understand the sounds and patterns words make. Photo Courtesy: Catherine Falls Commercial/Getty Images Many of the books are free to read online. Try a few, or try them all. Draw two or more characters from your story. Choose your favorite character and draw them in the middle of your paper. You can shop for books in stores, check them out from libraries and even buy them online, but you can also find free or inexpensive digital books for kids online. Draw a picture of yourself on the television talking about the book you are currently reading. The home version offers a free eBook library for kids ages 3 to 11, including both fiction and nonfiction. The FunBrain site also has games for kids of ages and videos like Kidz Bop, Teen Titans Go! and Highlights Kids. Cookies collect information about your preferences and your device and are used to make the site work as you expect it to, to understand how you interact with the site, and to show advertisements that are targeted to your interests. Was the emerald as green as a blade of grass? Then explain in two more sentences about the picture you drew. Pretend your story is a play. On the left side, write down the name of the character that was the "hero" of the story. If you'd like, you can print out a list of these activities and hand them out to your students. If you sign up for a free account, you can create a virtual bookshelf with your child's favorites so that you can find them easily when you want. Then, around the title, draw several pictures with words underneath about the events that happened in the story. Individual, school and classroom accounts are all available. You can narrow the selections down by age, length of book, topic and other categories. There are math games and phonics guides, and you'll find a selection of activities to do at home, sorted by age and grade level. Storyline Online One of the most well-known sites where you'll find free online books for kids is Storyline Online. If you need some book ideas, here are a few books that students in grades 3-5 will enjoy reading: Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing by Judy Blume Caddie Woodlawn by Carol Ryrie Brink The BFG by Roald Dahl The Courage of Sarah Noble by Alice Dalgliesh Everything on a Waffle by Polly Horvath In the Year of the Boar and Jackie Robinson by Bette Bao Lord The Secret School by Avi Name the quadrilaterals shown: rhombus, parallelogram, square, rectangle, or trapezoid 2nd through 4th Grades Identify the type of triangles shown: equilateral, isosceles, and scalene triangles. 3rd through 5th Grades Identify the type of triangles shown: acute, obtuse, and right triangles. 3rd through 5th Grades Flat and Solid Shaped (Mix) Cut out the shapes and glue them onto the t-chart. Then, draw lines coming out of the character, and list of the characters traits. In a brief paragraph, explain what you would change in the book, and why. Make sure to include any questions you have about the story, and talk about what your favorite part was. Choose three words from your book that you like the most.
