If you go back and read the original post, I remember actually in the taste of that couch. Not a design style, do I super comfort and, although I know now how to clean, yet a kind of drives me crazy. Quasi easily gets dirty. When I came down stairs there are a few weeks to find my 3 year old design in the couch with blue pen ... I hate to say it, but my first response in the was getting angry. He was to make a happy dance. I really thought the couch was ruined. I mean, blue pen. Throughout the dance. Do I had esperanza. Right? I felt like this might be just the reason the right to come back looking for a new couch (and hide all pens). But the Enta realized I could try limp it, just to prove it really was ruined. I picked up my supplies and started to spray and rub. And you do not know it, the pen comes out! Which...?!?! I was so sure that does the going out I did not even think to take a photo before the entire dance, but when I saw that I was leaving I took this photo. Only imagine this in all the dance. I rubbed too hard to take it all, and used a decent amount of alcohol, Enta now has a small dance in the dance (a little darker than the rest of the couch in some points), but I think if I had used a little less alcohol, do the would be a problem. However, a small descolora the light years that I was talking about these two best photos. I hope this is it useful! I was surprised that the this this cnica worked the pen of all things. I guess I'm stuck on this couch for long. :) Click here for the full tutorial again. * These images in the photoshopped were anyway. Moisten with a piece of cloth or alcohol and the disinfectant.
